Fatima Ibrahim al-Marzuqi is being carried by her brother because she is not able to walk due to her injuries sustained during a cluster munition attack on Malus village on June 7.

Cluster munitions have been used repeatedly by the Saudi–led coalition over the last year in populated areas in Yemen.

Five members of the coalition are known to have stockpiled cluster munitions used in Yemen:
- Saudi Arabia
- Bahrain
- Egypt
- Morocco
- United Arab Emirates

Countries that have supplied cluster munitions to coalition members include the United States and Brazil:
- Cluster munitions have been banned by 118 countries
- Cluster munitions disproportionately harm civilians

www.stopclustermunitions.org

© 2015 Ole Solvang/Human Rights Watch